Films of Nena Sestic-Fiser and Nenad Fiser were presented in The Netherlands, Croatia, Macedonia, France, Bosnia & Herzegovina, Ukraine, India, Serbia, Lithuania, USA, Poland and China. On File is proud that Nena and Nenad are our members and that most of the films in this programme were made with the On File's support.

This will be the first time that Nena and Nenad's films are screened at one place, in a kind of retrospection presenting their video works from the last five years.

Nina Flis, our guest from Croatia, is a singer and dancer. She will present some traditional songs from the region in the Northern Croatia where Nena Sestic-Fiser was born and spent her childhood. That past is recaptured in her film "Memories: Work in Progress", where our guest appears in a fleeting moment of dance.

- "Memories - work in progress" (experimental - documentary film), 4 min
- "What a City Dreams About" (animation film), 8 min
- "Equinox" (experimental film) , 16 min
- "Sound & Form" (animation film), 18 min
- "Mondriaan's Shout for Joy" (documentary - animation film), 8 min

Nena Sestic–Fiser, born in Bjelovar (Croatia) and living between Sarajevo and Utrecht, is a painter by vocation but also a visual artist of multidisciplinary interests, filmmaker and animator. She exhibited her paintings and video-installations in numerous European galleries and her short and animated films were screened in a number of international film festivals. Most of her works she realized together with Nenad Fiser who is not only her partner in life but also a collaborator in her artistic projects, featuring as a co-director, cameraman, animator or editor. In 2009 their two films were awarded: experimental-documentary film “Memories-work in progress” received the “van Dokkumprijs” of GKunstliefde in Utrecht, and the animated film “What a City Dreams About” a special award for creativity at the International Film Festival EKO-OKO in Sarajevo.
